AI-Search Visibility Audit: Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry

Prepared 2026-10-28 for Dave. Boston-area and MetroWest design-build remodeling.

1. Executive summary

Scorecard. 3 of 51 AI answers mentioned Out of the Woods (6%). Average rank when mentioned: 1.0. Answers citing outofthewoodsconstruction.com: 2.

Three headline findings.

1. Out of the Woods is invisible for every service-plus-town question. Across 48 answers to queries like "best kitchen remodeling design-build firms in Newton MA" or "best design-build remodeling firms in Waltham MA", from the simulated engine, Perplexity, and Google AI Mode, the firm was named zero times. Google AI Mode's Waltham answer listed six firms with 4 to 40 Google reviews each; OOTW, a Waltham firm, was not among them. The only mentions came from the three brand-name queries, where engines described the company accurately but called its review footprint "small and mixed".
2. Engines build their shortlists from two sources OOTW lacks. Houzz town lists were cited in 31 of 40 simulated answers; Google AI Mode built every answer from Google Business Profile cards; 37 of 40 answers cited a firm's own town or service-area page. OOTW's Houzz profile is filed under Acton with 3 reviews (newest 2017), Google shows 2 reviews, and the website has no town pages and names only Waltham, Boston, and Arlington.
3. Nothing technical is in the way. robots.txt allows GPTBot, ClaudeBot, PerplexityBot, and Google-Extended; the sitemap works; all 17 pages fetched cleanly. This is a content, reviews, and directory-consistency problem, which is fixable.

Top five actions (details in section 7): fix the Houzz location to Waltham and verify the Google Business Profile address (7.4); run a review campaign to reach 25 Google and 25 Houzz reviews in 90 days (7.4); publish town pages for Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Lexington, and Waltham (7.3); retitle the service pages with service plus towns and add the quotable "about" paragraph (7.1); add `HomeAndConstructionBusiness` structured data with `areaServed` (7.2).

2. Methodology and limitations

- 40 queries across services (kitchen, bath, additions, design-build, cabinetry) and towns along Route 128 and MetroWest.
- Simulated engine: Claude subagents performing live web searches and composing an answer the way a consumer AI answer engine does. This measures what the open web lets an AI say about the company. It is a proxy for, not a transcript of, ChatGPT or Perplexity.

- Real engines: the eight core queries were run in a browser on the engines listed in the coverage table. Blocked runs are counted but excluded from rates.

Engine	Answers captured	Blocked
chatgpt	0	8
google-ai-mode	8	0
perplexity	3	5
simulated	40	0

Run details. All 40 simulated queries were run on 2026-10-28 by five parallel agents, each handling eight queries, with results validated against a fixed schema. One batch of eight records omitted the "website cited" flag; it was derived from the recorded source URLs (none were on outofthewoodsconstruction.com) rather than re-run. The website audit fetched 17 pages from the sitemap the same day. Review-footprint and competitor data came from public pages fetched the same day; counts marked "not visible" could not be confirmed without a login.

Real engines. Perplexity was run signed-out in a clean browser profile. It answered three core queries and then returned "Sign up and repeat your request" for the remaining five; a retry about 25 minutes later was walled again, so those five are recorded as blocked. Google AI Mode answered all eight core queries. ChatGPT was not run because no signed-in session was available; it is recorded as blocked for all eight core queries and should be spot-checked manually from a logged-in account.

What the simulated results do and do not show. The simulated engine searches the live web and composes an answer from what it finds, which is what Perplexity, ChatGPT search, and Google AI Mode also do. Where the three real Perplexity answers overlap with the simulated ones, the same firms and the same source types (Houzz lists, firms' town pages) appear, which supports using the simulated set as a baseline. The simulated results are not transcripts of any specific product, and real engines vary answer to answer. The mention rate here is best read as "how often the open web gives an AI a reason to name Out of the Woods", which is the thing the website and directory changes in section 7 can move.

Profile	Findings
Nextdoor	Found TWO pages. (1) nextdoor.com/pages/out-of-the-woods-construction-cabinetry-inc-arlington-ma-1/ titled 'Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry, Inc. - Waltham, MA': address '260 Bear Hill Road, Waltham, MA 02451' (no suite number), phone (781) 641-3332 (both match website), website outofthewoodsconstruction.com, 'Lic. 060310'; categories General contractor, Kitchen remodeler, Cabinet maker, Carpenter, Bathroom remodeling service, Basement remodeling services; most recent recommendation Aug 10, 2025; aggregate recommendation count not visible; star rating n/a (Nextdoor uses recommendations); claimed status not visible. (2) nextdoor.com/pages/out-of-the-woods-construction-arlington-ma/ titled 'Out Of The Woods Construction - Arlington, MA': address '15 Ryder Street, Arlington, MA 02476' (old), phone (781) 641-3332, email greg@outofthewoodsconstruction.com, categories Construction and Cabinet maker, hours Mon-Fri 7:30am-5:00pm, most recent recommendation May 24, 2025; shows a 'Claim page' link (appears unclaimed); recommendation count not visible.
NAP consistency	Website (outofthewoodsconstruction.com) states: 260 Bear Hill Road, Suite 201, Waltham, MA 02451; 781-641-3332. Phone is consistent on Yelp, Houzz, both Nextdoor pages, BBB, MapQuest, BestProsInTown, Alignable/MasterBrand (all 781-641-3332); only BuildZoom shows a different phone (781-956-7695). Address is INCONSISTENT: matches on Yelp, Nextdoor (Waltham page, missing suite), MapQuest (304492884) and BestProsInTown; Houzz shows the right street but 'Acton, MA 01720'; Google-synced Birdeye profile and BBB (A+, not accredited, 0 reviews) show prior Waltham address 1347 Main St Suite 2; BuildZoom and MasterBrand dealer locator show 312 Nagog Hill Rd, Acton; Nextdoor (Arlington page), MapQuest (259837, 450529743), homeyou and Yellow Pages Directory show 15 Ryder St / 33 or 33B Ryder St, Arlington. At least four distinct addresses are live across directories. Business name also varies ('Out Of The Woods Construction' vs 'Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry, Inc.'); a separate unrelated 'Out of the Woods Custom Cabinetry' (ootwc.com) also appears in cabinetry searches.
Stale or duplicate listings	Duplicate Nextdoor pages: an unclaimed 'Out Of The Woods Construction' page at 15 Ryder St, Arlington alongside the Waltham page at 260 Bear Hill Rd. Duplicate MapQuest listings: 260 Bear Hill Rd Ste 201 (id 304492884), 1347 Main St Ste 2 Waltham (id 430499725), 15 Ryder St Arlington (ids 259837 and 450529743), and 33 Ryder St Arlington (id 259837 variant). Stale address on Houzz (city/zip 'Acton, MA 01720' with Bear Hill street; no reviews since May 2017; profile title still 'Acton, MA'). Stale Acton address (312 Nagog Hill Rd) on BuildZoom (with wrong phone), MasterBrand dealer locator, and Alignable. Stale 1347 Main St, Waltham address on BBB and on the Google-synced Birdeye profile, suggesting the Google Business Profile itself may still carry 1347 Main St Suite 2 rather than 260 Bear Hill Rd Suite 201 (not directly verified). Stale Arlington (33/33B Ryder St) listings on homeyou (0 reviews), Yellow Pages Directory, and Cylex. Yelp carries a 2014 1-star review with no owner response visible, dragging the 2-review profile to 3.0.

7. Recommendations

The pattern across 40 queries is simple. AI engines build their shortlists from two kinds of pages: Houzz directory lists for a town (cited in 31 of 40 answers) and a firm's own town or service-area page (cited in 37 of 40 answers). Out of the Woods has neither. Its Houzz profile is filed under Acton with three reviews, the newest from 2017, so it is absent from the Houzz "design-build firms in Waltham" list even though it is a Waltham firm. Its website names only three of the twelve scope towns anywhere (Waltham, Boston, Arlington) and has no page for any town. Nothing is blocking crawlers: robots.txt permits GPTBot, ClaudeBot, PerplexityBot, and Google-Extended. The fix is content and citations, not technical access.

7.1 Website wording

Finding. Service pages are titled as portfolios ("Kitchen Remodeling Portfolio | Massachusetts") and every town-level phrase on the site says "Greater Boston". Engines matched queries like "kitchen remodeling design-build firms in Newton MA" to competitors' pages that use those exact words. Change. Retitle and rewrite the four service pages so the title, H1, and first paragraph name the service plus the towns, and move the portfolio below the fold. Draft copy for the kitchens page:

> Title: Design-Build Kitchen Remodeling in Waltham, Newton, Wellesley & Needham MA | Out of the Woods Construction H1: Design-Build Kitchen Remodeling for Route 128 and MetroWest Homes Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry has designed and built kitchens in Waltham, Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Lexington, Belmont, Arlington, Weston, Concord, and Reading since 1992. One team handles design, custom cabinetry from our own shop, and construction, so the plan you approve is the kitchen you get. Less than 3% of our revenue comes from change orders.

Finding. The homepage H1 is "Remodel . . . be happy." and the page has no plain statement of what the company is, where it is, or where it works. In the two brand queries engines did describe OOTW accurately, but they had to assemble it from BBB, Yelp, and Nextdoor. Change. Add a quotable "about" paragraph to the homepage and the team page, written as the sentence you want an engine to repeat. Draft copy:

> Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry is a design-build residential remodeling firm in Waltham, Massachusetts, founded in 1992. We remodel kitchens and bathrooms, build additions, and renovate whole houses for homeowners along Route 128 and in MetroWest, from Reading to Needham, Wellesley, and Newton. Our in-house woodworking shop builds custom cabinetry and reproduces period millwork for older homes. Over 90% of our work comes from repeat clients and referrals, and we were named to Remodeling Magazine's Big50 in 2006.

Finding. Six of the eight cost and "who should I hire" queries were answered from contractor blog posts and cost guides, never from OOTW. Change. Publish a service-area statement and a short FAQ on the "What We Do" page that answers the questions homeowners actually ask engines: what does a kitchen remodel cost in Newton, how long does an addition take, what does design-build mean, which towns do you serve. Use real ranges from recent projects.

7.2 Structured data

Finding. The only JSON-LD on the site is the Squarespace default `WebSite` type. No page declares the business, its address, its service area, or its services in machine-readable form. Change. Add one `HomeAndConstructionBusiness` block to every page via Squarespace code injection, with `name`, `address` (260 Bear Hill Rd, Suite 201, Waltham, MA 02451), `telephone`, `foundingDate` 1992, `url`, `sameAs` links to the Houzz, Google, Facebook, and Nextdoor profiles, and `areaServed` as a list of the twelve towns. Add a `Service` entity per service page (Kitchen Remodeling, Bathroom Remodeling, Home Additions, Custom Cabinetry, Whole-House Renovation) and `FAQPage` markup on the FAQ once it exists. Do not add `AggregateRating` unless it mirrors a live Google or Houzz rating.

7.3 New pages

Finding. The eight most-recommended competitors average more than fifteen town pages each (NEDC 16, Feinmann about 23, Refined Renovations 35+, Morse and JM Construction and RemodelWerks each a full set). OOTW has zero, and the towns with zero mentions of OOTW in this audit are exactly the towns with zero coverage on the site: Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Lexington, Reading, Belmont, Weston, Concord. Change. Build a service-area hub page plus one page per town, starting with the five towns that carried the most queries (Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Lexington, Waltham). Each page needs 400 to 600 words, two or three real projects from that town with photos, the housing-stock angle (Newton Victorians, Needham capes, Lexington mid-century), and a link to each service page. Fifty words of boilerplate with the town name swapped will not be cited.

Finding. "Cabinetry" is in the company name and the one cabinetry query returned twelve firms without OOTW. The cabinetry page exists but is positioned as a luxury upgrade, not as the in-house shop that differentiates a design-build firm. Change. Rewrite the cabinetry page around the shop: period millwork reproduction, built-ins, kitchen cabinetry built for the firm's own remodels, and name the towns.

Finding. No page explains the firm's process or guarantee in terms engines quote (JM Construction's GuildQuality surveys, RemodelWerks' published multi-year guarantee, Feinmann's awards page all got cited). Change. Add an awards and press page (Big50 2006, Best of Houzz 2017, NARI and PRO New England memberships, any media from the existing media page) and state the workmanship warranty in one sentence on the process page.

7.4 Off-site citations and reviews

Finding. Houzz is the single most-cited source in this audit, and OOTW's Houzz profile shows "Acton, MA 01720", three reviews, and no review since May 2017. Molla Builders ranks on Houzz town lists across the region with a four-page website because it has 60 five-star Houzz reviews. Change. Fix the Houzz location to Waltham today, then run a review campaign to past clients (the testimonials page already has nine named, willing clients) with a target of 25 Houzz reviews and 25 Google reviews within 90 days. Reviews that name the town and the service ("our Newton kitchen") help most.

Finding. Four different addresses are live across directories: 260 Bear Hill Rd (website), 1347 Main St Waltham (BBB and the Google-synced Birdeye profile, which suggests the Google Business Profile itself may still show the old address), 312 Nagog Hill Rd Acton (BuildZoom with a wrong phone, MasterBrand dealer locator, Alignable), and 15 or 33 Ryder St Arlington (an unclaimed duplicate Nextdoor page, MapQuest, Cylex, Yellow Pages). Change. Verify the Google Business Profile address and categories first, then correct or remove each stale listing and claim the Arlington Nextdoor page so it can be merged. Consistent name, address, and phone across sources is how engines decide two listings are the same business.

Finding. Both brand queries led engines to the 2014 one-star Yelp review and to describe the review footprint as "small and mixed". Change. Post an owner response on the Yelp review and ask two or three recent clients to review on Yelp so the 3.0 is no longer the headline number.

Finding. Angi has no profile for the firm, and the firm's PRO New England member page was cited by Perplexity for a competitor. Change. Create the Angi profile with the Waltham address, and complete the PRO New England and NARI member profiles with the service list and towns served, since engines cited both association sites in this audit.

8. 30/60/90-day plan

First 30 days (fixes that cost hours, not weeks).

- Correct the Houzz profile location to Waltham and update its services and photos.
- Verify the Google Business Profile address, phone, categories, and hours; add the service list and the twelve towns to the description.
- Claim the Arlington Nextdoor page and request a merge; correct BuildZoom, BBB, MasterBrand, Alignable, and MapQuest to 260 Bear Hill Rd Suite 201.
- Respond to the 2014 Yelp review; ask three recent clients for Yelp and Google reviews.
- Add the "about" paragraph from section 7.1 to the homepage and team page, and the `HomeAndConstructionBusiness` JSON-LD block site-wide.
- Retitle the four service pages with service plus towns.

Days 31 to 60 (content that engines can cite).

- Publish the service-area hub and the first five town pages: Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Lexington, Waltham.
- Publish the FAQ with cost ranges and timelines, with `FAQPage` markup.
- Rewrite the cabinetry page around the in-house shop.
- Launch the review campaign to the nine testimonial clients and all clients from the last three years, targeting Houzz and Google.

Days 61 to 90 (depth and measurement).

- Publish the remaining town pages: Belmont, Arlington, Weston, Concord, Reading, plus a MetroWest page.
- Add the awards and press page and a one-sentence warranty statement.
- Create the Angi profile; complete PRO New England and NARI profiles.
- Re-run this audit's 40 queries and compare the mention rate to this baseline of 2 of 40.

9. Items from Dave's audit

Dave mentioned an existing audit and a list of missing items. That list had not been received by the report date, so this section is a placeholder. When it arrives, each missing item will be mapped to the recommendations in section 7 so the two documents can be worked as one list. Items on it that overlap with findings here (structured data, service-area pages, directory cleanup) should be treated as confirmed by two independent reviews.

perplexity · firms: Feinmann, New England Design & Construction, Bay State Remodeling, McGuire + Co. Kitchen & Bath · OOTW: not mentioned

> I’d start with Feinmann, New England Design & Construction, and Bay State Remodeling for a Boston-area kitchen design-build project. They offer different reasons to make the shortlist: Feinmann for design-intensive kitchen transformations, NEDC for architecturally ambitious renovations, and Bay State for a kitchen-focused showroom-to-construction process. Those distinctions reflect their published services and portfolios—not an independently audited ranking. feinmann +2

My shortlist Firm Why I'd consider it Best project fit Feinmann — Lexington, serving Greater Boston Established in 1987, with an integrated team of architects, interior designers, selection experts, project managers, and lead carpenters. Its kitchen portfolio includes reworking adjoining dining and mudroom spaces, not just replacing cabinetry. feinmann A design-led kitchen remodel involving a new layout, better circulation, or changes to adjacent rooms. New England Design & Construction — Boston Combines architectural design and construction, with a portfolio spanning Boston-area communities including Newton, Cambridge, Brookline, and Wayland. Its published kitchen work includes complete gut remodels and kitchens incorporated into larger additions. nedesignbuild A kitchen renovation that forms part of a broader architectural transformation or addition. Bay State Remodeling / Bay State Kitchen Gallery — Boston and Waltham Explicitly offers cabinetry design through its Waltham showroom, with construction and installation under one contract. Its published process includes floor plans, renderings, procurement, a single project lead, and weekly updates. baystateremodeling A full kitchen renovation where you want a clear connection between cabinetry selection, design, and construction responsibility. McGuire + Co. Kitchen & Bath An additional kitchen-specific candidate: its Houzz listing identifies kitchen and bath design, cabinetry, design-build remodeling, and general contracting, with 32 reviews averaging 5.0 at the time of the listing retrieved. My evidence for this firm is thinner than for the three above. houzz A comparison bid from a kitchen-and-bath-focused firm rather than a broader architectural remodeler. How I'd narrow the choice

For a substantial layout change, I would interview Feinmann and NEDC first: both describe integrated design-and-construction teams, and their published work goes beyond finish replacement. For a more kitchen-contained renovation, I would include Bay State because its stated offering directly connects showroom cabinetry design with the construction contract. This is a fit assessment, not a claim that one delivers better workmanship than another. feinmann +2

I wouldn't rank them by price from the available evidence. I haven't verified comparable project minimums, current availability, or like-for-like bids. Feinmann itself notes that kitchen pricing depends on scope, existing finishes, and selections rather than a simple square-foot formula. feinmann

What to ask before paying a design fee

Use the same brief for each interview so the proposals are comparable. In particular, ask:

"Can you show me two completed kitchens similar to mine in house type, scope, and total investment?"

"Does your proposed budget include design, permits, structural engineering if needed, cabinetry, installation, appliances, and finish work?"

"What is fixed-price, what remains an allowance, and how are changes priced?"

"Who owns the design documents, and what happens if I don't proceed to construction?"

"Who will run my job day to day, and can I speak with recent clients whose projects that person managed?"

These questions help test the distinctions the firms advertise: Feinmann's integrated team, NEDC's architecture-and-build model, and Bay State's single-contract, single-project-lead process. feinmann +2

> What town or Boston neighborhood is the home in, and what is your approximate all-in budget? Those two details would materially change

Best firms to interview Firm Best fit Why it makes the shortlist Feinmann — Lexington High-end kitchens, significant layout changes, or a kitchen remodel tied to an addition An established, employee-owned design-build firm with an extensive Newton portfolio. Its “Crafted Calm” Newton project expanded a kitchen through a two-story addition; the firm reports a 2026 regional Chrysalis award in the Kitchen Over $250,000 category for that project. New England Design & Construction (NEDC) — serving Newton Architectural reconfiguration and kitchen renovations affecting adjacent rooms Its Newton portfolio includes a kitchen gut renovation that removed a small mudroom to enlarge the space. Its published process covers design, structural drawings, renderings, material selections, construction management, weekly meetings, and a two-year service warranty. nedesignbuild

Kitchen Cornerstones — Newton showroom A kitchen-specialist approach with a local showroom The company specifically identifies itself as a kitchen design-build firm with a Newton showroom. What to compare before hiring Use those project-fit differences to choose three interviews. Then ask each firm the same questions:

“Can you show me two recent Newton kitchens with a scope similar to mine, and provide homeowner references?”

“Who designs the kitchen, who handles structural work, and who is contractually responsible for construction?”

> “What is included in the initial budget—and what remains an allowance or exclusion?”
> “What design fees are due before we have a construction price, and what documents do we receive?”
>
> “Who will manage the job daily, and what are your current design and construction lead times?”
> The distinction between design-build and construction-only matters here: NEDC, for example, explicitly publishes an integrated process from space evaluation and drawings through construction and warranty. Ask every candidate to explain its own arrangement just as clearly rather than assuming the label means the same thi

> For a home addition in Needham, MA, a few contractors come up repeatedly in search results and have established track records. Colony Home Improvement is a design-build remodeler with more than 40 years of Massachusetts experience that handles additions from architectural planning and engineering through construction, and it markets specifically to Needham, including two-story additions. Kneeland Construction is a family-owned builder with 40+ years of experience in Greater Boston that designs and builds additions, second-story additions, dormers and in-law suites and handles design, permitting and construction end to end. Morse Constructions, a Boston-area design-build firm and Best of Houzz winner (4.8 stars, 51 reviews), lists 29 Needham projects on Houzz. Michael Hally Design is an award-winning design firm rated 5.0 with 53 reviews and 51 Needham-area projects. PionArch LLC is a design-and-construction company > specializing in additions, garage additions and sun rooms throughout Greater Boston. Hillcrest Development is a Needham-based general contractor offering room additions and new construction. For a Needham addition, start by getting proposals from two or three of these, confirming each holds a Massachusetts CSL and HIC registration, and asking to see completed additions in town; Needham's zoning (lot coverage, setbacks) often shapes what is feasible, so a firm that handles permitting is valuable.

Is Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry in Waltham a good design-build remodeling firm brand-good-firm · brand · n/a · brand · breadth

simulated · firms: Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry · OOTW: rank 1

> Out of the Woods Construction & Cabinetry is a long-established Waltham design/build residential remodeling firm (260 Bear Hill Rd., Suite 201) founded in 1992 and led by president Greg Antonioli. It handles kitchens, baths, additions, whole-house renovations, and exterior work, and is distinguished by an in-house woodworking shop that reproduces period mouldings and casework, a useful fit for older Greater Boston homes. The firm is a member of PRO New England (Professional Remodeling Organization), is licensed (CSL #060310, HIC #109038), insured, and lead-safe certified. It emphasizes a heavily front-loaded planning process, stating that less than 3% of revenue comes from change orders, and reports that over 90% of its business comes from repeat clients and referrals. It has been cited as an industry thought leader on design/build process and open-book management.
> The public review footprint is small and mixed: a 5-star rating from one Birdeye review, a 3.0 on Yelp from just two reviews (one highly critical, alleging slow service and a pricing bait-and-switch), and positive Nextdoor comments praising design quality, on-schedule delivery through winter storms, and no-surprise budgets. It is not BBB accredited. On balance the credentials and process point to a credible, experienced design-build firm, but with so few online reviews you should ask for recent client references and a sample contract before committing.
